A Newbie's Basic Bivy Survival Kit

Basic Bivy Must Brings...

This is a basic guide on what to bring during those overnight games. The list is not that complete, but would help you get through the night.

*Water

*Food (Bread, dried meat. the food must be compact and can be carried by the operator while on patrol)

*Flashlight- to find your way to the neutral ground when you get yourself and your squad killed..

*Off Lotion (need i to elaborate further?)

*First Aid Kit- It'll definitely come handy to treat minor wounds and scratches. Also include some caladryl lotion to treat insect bite allergies (Definitely saved me from getting major itching due to insect bites)

*Don't forget your guns and ammo.....and face mask...

All these must fit into your webgear, you'll wear everything you need. Don't fit too much stuff into your web gear or you won't last an hour on patrol...The key is you pack and travel light, You don't want to feel/look like a beast of burden when you wear you're harness and all your supplies...you only need little because you won't stay in the jungle for a month...With all these in mind, all you need to figure out is how to score yourself a kill....
